

Silkbank Introduces International Bank Account Number (IBAN)

Silkbank is pleased to introduce the globally acceptable International Bank Account Number (IBAN) to enable the customers to easily and conveniently conduct international transactions. IBAN is a unique account code used by banks worldwide for recognition and receipt of remittances, payments and all other international banking transactions. The International Bank Account Number (IBAN) will be effective from June 2013.

The customers will continue to enjoy banking services as before with IBAN, which is mentioned in their Statements of Account and E-statements. For day-to-day domestic banking transactions, the customers can interchangeably use either their Silkbank Account Number or IBAN.

We hope that this change will further enhance the banking experience of our customers. We assure of our commitment to deliver the highest level of customer service for a long and mutually beneficial relationship.